

Front End Developer

Consider being Brandography's next Wordpress Front End Developer working with our all-star team of life-long learners in a (remote-friendly) culture that safe-guards against a mundane work experience.

Here's the scoop!

- Brandography is growing! We're looking for a skilled WordPress developer for both design and implementation of attractive and functional websites for a diverse and interesting client group.
- This position focuses on front-end development including the integration of WordPress themes and plugins.
- An in-depth knowledge of PHP, Wordpress, front-end programming languages, a good eye for aesthetics, and strong content management skills are needed.
- Opportunities can span from Wordpress builds to development projects that drive our client's business processes.

About us!

- Brandography is expanding as a digital solutions firm and our team members are continuously growing in their craft as well.
- Our work culture fosters trust, autonomy, collaboration, integrity, and growth.

Enough about us, how about you?

- Are you PHP and Wordpress proficient?
- How many bonus points do you score for experience with other content management systems?
- Want to hang with fun, kind, and supportive teammates that are "nerds to the core"?
- Do you think servant leadership is super cool and want to work with leaders who serve the team?
- Ultimately, are you skilled in developing attractive, user-friendly websites that jive with the design and functionality specifications of the client?

Candidate Qualifications:

- Degree in computer science, technical education, or work experience equivalent.
- Accomplished expertise with PHP and Wordpress. (Magento and Shopify are a plus!)
- Proven experience as a Front-End Developer.
- Experience developing for both desktop and mobile.
- Knowledge of multiple front-end languages.
- Excellent communication and teamwork skills.
